Protocol Title: Replicating findings on the attribution of knowledge and luck (0590)

Dear Michael,

Continuing Review for your protocol, Replicating findings on the attribution of knowledge and luck (0590), has been approved by the Fairfield University IRB Chairperson via Expedited Review as of 09/23/2019.

Expedited Approval based on: HHS/OHRP Exp. Cat. 7: Research on individual or group characteristics or behavior.

This Continuing Review approval will expire one year from 09/23/2019. You are responsible for taking note of this expiration date and submitting an Annual Report on time. (Do not solely rely on Infonetica ERM's automated expiration warnings.)

Any changes you wish to make to your protocol should be submitted as an Amendment. Any Adverse Events should be reported to the IRB immediately by submitting an Adverse Events Report.

To submit an Amendment or Adverse Events Report, return to your protocol within Infonetica and choose "Create Sub-Form" from your protocol's Action menu. (The tiles on the left.)

You must submit another Annual Report before the above expiration date, at which time you will either terminate the protocol or request further Continuation. (Also submitted through a Sub-Form.)

If you have any questions, please contact me.

Sincerely,

IRB Chair Linda Henkel
